Seniors And Fathers Attend June Communion Breakfast

The traditional Father and Son Communion Breakfast was conducted last Sunday, June 10, at the Astorian Manor. Those who were present at the affair received Communion at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Astoria, where they attended the ten o'clock Mass.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Brother Baldwin Peter, FSC, Assistant Principal at Loughlin during the three years previous to Brother A. John's appointment. Brother Peter had spent the past year at the Mother House of the Christian Brothers in Rome, Italy, for a year of study and retreat. Next year he will be reassigned in the United States.

Monsignor Kelaher is Pastor of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, where Loughlin has conducted the annual Communion Mass for the past several years.

At the breakfast, a number of awards were distributed to outstanding seniors who did much for Loughlin during the 1961-62 scholastic year.

Induction of Loughlin's seniors into the St. James-Bishop Loughlin Alumni Association will be conducted in the school auditorium, Friday evening, June 22, at 7:30 p.m.

A group of Alumni officers, in formal robes, will charge the new members to fulfill the duties of their new estate and always live up to the Loughlin tradition.

Present also at the Alumni induction will be the parents of the seniors and the dates of those seniors attending the Commencement Dance.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES MARK CULMINATION OF LOUGHLIN STUDIES FOR OVER FOUR HUNDRED SENIORS

Terminating four years of study at Loughlin, four hundred and thirty-six seniors will receive their diplomas in the school auditorium, Monday evening, June 25. The graduation ceremony will commence at eight o'clock, the concluding event in the series of commencement activities moderated by Brother C. Richard.

Presiding at the graduation ceremony will be the Very Reverend Monsignor Robert Welch, the Rector of the Seminary of the Immaculate Conception in the Brooklyn Diocese.

After the Processional March and the National Anthem, Brother B. Stephen, Principal, will make an address of greeting. Subsequent to the presentation of diplomas, the numerous awards and achievements will be announced.

The Bishop's Award for General Excellence, first and second honors, as well as the Principal's awards in Religion, English, history, science, Latin, French, and mathematics will also be promulgated at this time.

As is the custom, a reading of the class history will be given, in addition to the Valedictory Address. Parents of the graduating seniors will be present at the ceremony.

In addition to the seven award medals, four Principal's scholarships will be presented. The winners of the awards and scholarships are determined by a Faculty Committee.

The graduation ceremony will close with the Loughlin Alma Mater, Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, and a Recessional March.

Three Loughlin Seniors Acquire Scholarships For Science Prowess Shown At Diocesan Fair

Three seniors were awarded scholarships totaling approximately twenty thousand dollars for their projects entered in the recent Diocesan Science Fair, conducted at St. John's University.

Brian Cannon, 117, for his project on Space Psychology, Philip Hessling, 116, for his experiments based on the Van de Graaff Linear Particle Accelerator, and Henry Stalzer, 116, for his study in the separation of ions in water, were the three students adjudged worthy of full scholarships.

For the best project in the boys division, a trophy was awarded R. Spedale, 405, for his work upon a six inch reflecting telescope. A. Giambalvo, 414, a sophomore, also won a medal for his project. Freshmen meriting medals for their projects were J. McNulty, 214; J. Veldardi, 214; and J. Sullivan, 217. R. Desiano, 217, was awarded Honorable Mention.

was the sophomore winner, and James Sullivan won the Freshman Division.

"If the boys continue their good spirit of study in the sciences and in their projects, Loughlin will continue to do as well as they have in the past, if not better" spoke Brother Albert, the faculty advisor, in reference to the sweep of awards by Loughlin this year.

In the Catholic Science Fair last year, conducted April 29 at Xaverian High School, William Langan was the recipient of a four year college scholarship for his research in the field of spectroanalysis.

Brian Cannon was also the grand prize winner in the annual school science fair, conducted at Loughlin, February 23 and 24, under the direction of Brother Albert. Anthony Giambalvo

Under the direction of Brother C. Adrian, Loughlin conducted the annual Awards Day, June 1. At the afternoon assembly all major and minor letter winners were announced.

At the opening of the agenda, Brother Adrian, Master of Ceremonies, briefly outlined the activities represented after which the moderators addressed the student body. They spoke on the highlights of the 1961-62 year, commenting upon what each activity did to add to the prestige of Loughlin, and made known the names of those who had merited letters.

In order to qualify for a major or minor letter, a student must engage in the activity for at least two years; however, exceptions may be considered in the case of seniors.

Brother B. Stephen delivered a congratulatory note acclaiming those boys who had been honored and exhorting those who had not belonged to any organization to become members of one in the 1962-63 scholastic year.

One of the main events of the assembly was the announcing of The Jamesonian editors for next year by Brother A. Kevin. Among the school activities commemorated at the assembly were: track, basketball, tennis, swimming, baseball, handball, bowling, The Jamesonian, The Loughlinite, and all the culture clubs around Loughlin.

Senior Class Accumulates Numerous Complete And Partial Grants Towards College Expenses

During the past school year, the Senior Class has acquired numerous scholarships and partial grants. One hundred and thirty-five Loughlinites were awarded New York State Regents Scholarships and an additional sixty-six students were accorded an alternate status.

Loughlin seniors merited twenty-six partial grants to Manhattan College, thirteen to Fordham University, four to St. Francis College, six to New York University, and one to St. John's University.

Full scholarships were won by Ernest Braasch to Pace College, Raymond Baechler to Fordham University, Michael Cichetti, Thomas Finn, and Frank Vertucci to St. Francis College, Anthony LoBue to St. John's University, Daniel Cronin and Richard Sheer to Iona College, Paul Brustowicz to Long Island University, and Peter Hauser to Cooper Union.

Athletic scholarships were awarded to Peter Haffner by Manhattan, Villanova and Syracuse; to Ken Coniglio by Manhattan, St. John's and Villanova; to Kevin Lyall by Fairfield; to Robert Riley by St. John's; and to Jack Crisp by St. Francis. Pratt Institute offered full basketball scholarships to Ray Delnicki, Dan Parrinelli, Kevin Lyall and Gene Orlovski.

Stephen Giunta qualified for an NROTC scholarship; Frank Grosso secured a grant from the Columbian Association of the Police Department.

The Diocesan Science Council awarded full scholarships to Brian Cannon, Phil Hessling, and Henry Stalzer.

DO NOT CIRCULATE

Around Loughlin

PHIL RYAN

Ever since the barbed-wire barricades were torn down and the debates ended, the liberals and conservatives are finding new ways to carry on the struggle. Some rightist terrorists have planted several plastic bombs in the library. The leftists responded by issuing twenty summonses in just one day of violence at Loughlin.

I'm sure that we have all learned something new from the Dramatic Society's production of "Our Town." I've learned how to do my homework on a ladder — and copy it at the same time.

I've reached the peak of my counciling career. I issued two summons for loitering to some sophomores who were playing smorgasbord in the basement corridor.

One of the greatest diversions in this paper is the "Voice of Loughlin." Here are some samples which have not been printed in the past.

"I have chosen St. Eulus College as my place of future study for several important reasons. Their outstanding scholastic reputation and excellent record of academic achievement were most important in making my decision. Their fine athletic program and language laboratories have made St. Eulus one of the best colleges in the East, and besides, no one else would accept me."

"I'm going to attend Archbishop McLoughlin in September, because my three older brothers came here."

"I have benefited most from my participation in the Radio Club. It has enabled me to 'bug' both the faculty rooms and make recordings of the conversations which take place there. (The LP album is available — it's called, "Talk on the Wild Side")."

"I've benefited most by my experience with girls. Why those scheming little creatures taught me how to tie my shoe."

"I don't think that defense counsels should be permitted in the Student Court. If that happens some student might plead not guilty."

"Student Council offenders should not be afforded the benefit of defense council in the Student Court due to the efficacy of movement resulting in the incrimination of the guilty party. Confidence in the decision of judges must result if it is rendered in an unbiased manner and is judicious in the proceedings."

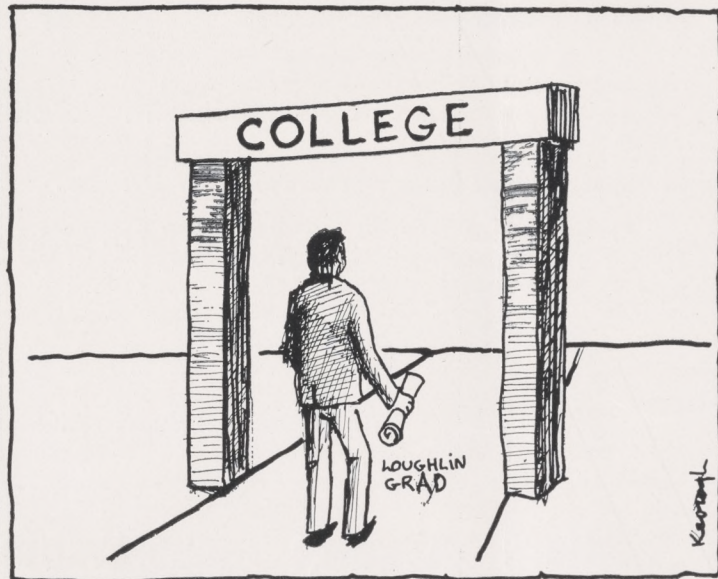

"Yes. Defense council would be nice."

"I've gained most by my participation in the Student Council because it has taught me a knowledge of supervision and efficiency in controlling numbers of people and besides I can wear a big orange button."

"I've benefited most from my participation in the Glee Club. Getting used to all the loud noise, easily enables me to ignore the announcements every day."

Looking To The Future

Today great emphasis is placed on a college education and the difficulty there is in attaining it. As often as we hear words praising our colleges and higher education, we hear how increasingly hard it is becoming for the average student to gain admittance to the college of his choice — even, for some, to gain admittance to any college.

Certainly, the best recommendation for a student seeking admission to a college is a good high school record. This includes all four years of study. Every mark in each subject is sent to the college for its consideration. Thus the feeling among underclassmen that college is to far away to worry about is entirely wrong. Now is the time to start looking ahead by making a little extra effort on the exams, which will go a long way later.

The results of a Loughlin education are very encouraging in this field. Our school's academic course is geared for the student who plans to enter college. Proof of this is not only the great number of Loughlin seniors who are successfully admitted to a college, but also the very large number who have been awarded scholarships to make their college education possible. These students have made good use of all the advantages of an excellent course of study as well as the opportunities of extra-curricular clubs for further study in many fields.

This year, not one Loughlin senior, intending to go to college, has failed to gain admission to at least one college. Of these, almost one-half have been awarded scholarships. This is a fine tribute to our school and its faculty. Loughlin students can be confident that with successful completion of their course of study at Loughlin, the chance to pursue higher education will not be denied to them.

PERSONALITIES

TIM NESBITT

Joe Schlupf has ranked first in his class during his entire stay at Loughlin, possessing a 98 per cent three-year average. He has been a member of the Latin and Math Clubs at Loughlin and has won awards in both these subjects as well as first place in the 1960 Iona French Tournament.

Joe Schlupf

Joe is very much interested in mechanics. He spends much of his spare time rebuilding a '51 Dodge for future use and working part-time as a service station attendant. Fishing, hunting, and camping keep him active the rest of the time.

This Fall, Joe will study Astro-physics at Manhattan.

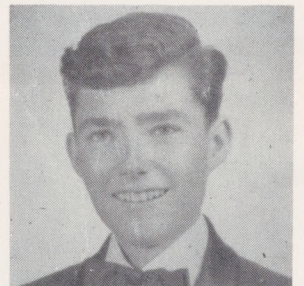

Another Loughlin scholar is Joe Roccaforte, who comes from Our Lady of Miraculous Medal Parish in Ridgewood. President of the Latin Club, Joe has won the individual first place trophy from the New York Classical Association for the last two years. He received a certificate of merit in the Iona French Contest and has been awarded a full scholarship to Fordham University, where he plans to study Political Philosophy.

Joe Roccaforte

At home, Joe keeps active playing baseball and football and also devotes a lot of his time to his hobbies of tropical fish and reading.

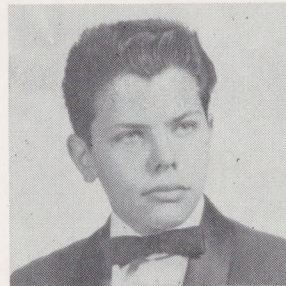

The Loughlinite's Sports Editor, Tom Finn, is also a four-year Tennis Team member with a second place award in the Loughlin Doubles Tournament. Tom's other activities include the Math Team and Senior Prom Committee and, in addition to these, he was campaign manager for the Gold Party and a former Latin Club member.

Tom Finn

Tom's seven Gold "L's" and membership in the Leo Honor Society are a good indication of how he'll do as a Physics major at Manhattan.

Loughlin's Senior Class musician, Joe Rotolo, can play both the piano and guitar equally well and is leader of the Senior Jazz Combo. Joe is also captain of the Cheerleaders and a Dramatics Society member. He had parts in "The Valiant" and in "Our Town" this year.

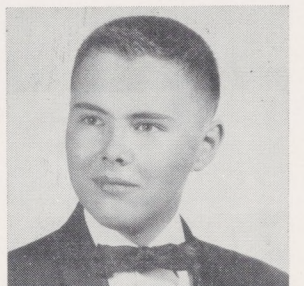

Joe Rotolo

Upon graduation, Joe will follow a pre-med course at St. John's.

Jerry Janecek, president and concert master of the school's orchestra, has been an important member of the orchestra for four years as a violinist. His love of music extends beyond school activity, however, as is shown by his collection of classical records and his enjoyment of them, particularly violin compositions.

A member of the Latin Club and formerly the Biology Club, Jerry, too, has distinguished himself very well in these fields with numerous awards in competition. He was also a former Chess Club member at Loughlin.

Jerry has decided to major in Psychology at Manhattan College next year.

Presidential Farewell

GEORGE CAPPIELLO

As I look back over my past year as President of the Student Council, I have mixed emotions. I am happy to have been elected because of the responsibility with which I was entrusted and I am also unhappy because of it.

You might think it would feel good to have your friends jokingly address you as "Mr. President." This was probably the biggest drawback of my office. Most of your friends will try to treat you just as before, but even your best friends are a little wary of you, now that you are president. Most people are not able to "switch" positions with you and try to understand your feelings. They just remember you as the one who is always talking to the faculty members. They forget to think that, as president, you would have need for the help of the faculty. You are just an "apple polisher" who used to be a nice guy.

Probably the thing for me to do as president was to address the seniors at our Senior Meeting. The most difficult task for me is to get up in front of my fellow students and conduct an assembly. My thought as I spoke was that anyone of them could do a better job.

I said my emotions were mixed and so I must have found something pleasant in being president. The occasions were many when I was introduced to V.I.P.'s visiting our school. It was always a great source of enjoyment to hear as well as to feel their noteworthy praise for the student body. It made me feel that in some small way I too, was receiving a note of praise, for after all, I am a representative of this marvelous student body.

Alumnus Wins Hero Award

By DON STELLER

Father Gerard Griffiths, C.P., former alumnus of Loughlin, was awarded the Carnegie Hero Medal for his performance in the subduing of a berserk exmental patient in Union City, New Jersey. He was also awarded a gold medal and citation from the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association for assisting Patrolman Mark Fusco in the capture.

Father Griffiths was the retreat director at Saint Paul's Monastery, Union City, New Jersey, when on April 13, 1961, he was summoned by a parishioner to the scene. Joseph Caputo, armed with a .22 calibre rifle, was threatening to jump from the roof of his apartment. In the driving rain Father Gerard and Patrolman Fusco ascended a ladder despite Caputo's vigorous threats and attempts to dislodge the ladder. They then followed the frantic man to a nearby roof. Father Gerard later remarked, "There was nothing I could do but jump after him . . . I tried to calm him but it didn't seem to have much effect."

Finally, talking for almost an hour, Father persuaded Caputo to let him place a blanket on his shoulders to protect him from the rain. While Father was covering him with the blanket, Caputo suddenly knocked the priest to the floor and sprayed six shots over the roof. Two pierced Patrolman Fusco's raincoat. Captain George Romano then felled Caputo with one shot. Fusco immediately disarmed Caputo.

Father Gerard, 35, was born in Brooklyn and attended Holy Innocents grammar school in Brooklyn. He studied under the Christian Brothers at Loughlin and later attended Niagara University, New York.

Father entered Loughlin in 1940. In the "Happy days of Loughlin" as he calls them, Father was known as Thomas Griffiths. Listed among his activities are the Track Team and the Glee Club. Father was graduated from Loughlin in 1944 and entered Niagara University to continue his studies.

Thomas, answering his vocation, entered the Passionist Order. His vows of religion were taken in 1950. He then studied in the various Passionist Monasteries at Dunkirk, New York; Scranton, Pennsylvania; Baltimore, Md. and Union City, New Jersey. He was ordained a priest by Bishop Cuthbert O'Gara, C.P. of Yuanling, China, May 3, 1957, at Saint Michael's Monastery, New Jersey. He celebrated his first Mass in Holy Innocents Church May 5, 1957. He was then assigned to Saint Gabriel's Monastery, Toronto. Two years ago he was again transferred to Saint Michael's Monastery. In August 1961, Father was appointed Assistant Director of Retreats at Saint Paul of the Cross Retreat House, Pittsburgh.

After receiving the Carnegie Medal, Father commented that, "Luckily the shots were wild, else it would have to be a posthumous award."

Remember When . . .

Remember when these words were spoken, "I'll speak only at the first Senior Meeting. You'll run it yourselves, afterwards."

Remember when the same student, after getting a problem wrong on the board and after the mistake was detected, said to Mr. Perciaccante, "I just wanted to see if you were alert."

. . . a certain senior lost his I.D. card and Student Councilor badge when Brother Richard saw him wearing short pants on a Saturday.

. . . a teacher sent a student of 312 out to Clermont Avenue to see if it were raining.

Remember when a certain student won sixty cents in a lottery taken on the number of times a math teacher would stop and call the class to order. The winning number was twenty-one.

Remember when a certain English teach told his class, "You can plagiarize a bibliography because it isn't plagiarism."

. . . class 416 was waiting for a certain teacher to come in. They placed the desk on the edge of the platform and then Brother Peter walked in and announced, "This is a study period."

. . . at the "Musical" when Bishop Sheen's Angel did a little shifting of Mr. Consoli's chair arrangement causing a few left-over orchestra members.

. . . Brother Rejean's French class circled the room doing the Bunny Hop and singing Christmas songs on the last day before the Christmas vacation.

Remember when a student in 317 was found reading "Dracula" instead of Cicero during Brother Anselm's Latin III period.

Remember when the principal walked up behind you during your English class and you were doing Latin.

. . . Brother Brendan Michael sounded off with a chorus of "Beautiful Dreamer" while in Physics Lab.

Brother Christopher holds the 50-yard dash record across the room after sprinting after Frank Grosso who nearly crowned him with a window pole.

. . . one class conducted a little contest to see how many one thousand word compositions a certain teacher could give out. One student tried to obtain an assignment with so much enthusiasm that he was suspended.

. . . Brother Richard walked into 116 and asked, "Could I see Babor?" Babor stood up and said, "Take a good look."

Remember when Brother Daniel said to a boy in his Latin III class, "How did you ever get past Latin II?" He then realized that he was the boy's Latin II teacher.

Remember when a certain teacher accused his senior history class of using "spiritism" when he saw pens and pencils floating around the classroom.

. . . Mr. Rogers opened the window and in-flu-enza.

. . . upon hearing a short period bell a student in 311 shouted "fire drill" and was followed by Brother A. Michael and half the junior year in an impromptu march around the school.

Remember when Brother Charles Felix made his junior typing class type a letter to Santa Claus.

Remember when Mr. Rusnak sat in class 317 for ten minutes with a napkin under his belt.

Remember when Brother Mark, on entering his classroom, remarked, "Amid this turmoil I think I hear a whisper."

. . . Pete Haffner's birthday party in the medical ward, 116. The class served cupcakes and candles with the lights off. When Brother Christian walked in, the shades went up and everybody sang "Happy Birthday" and Brother Christian said, "It's not my birthday."

Remember when Brother Adrian remarked to John Donaghue, "You talk so much that two days after you die a man would have to come around with a stick and beat your tongue to death."

Remember when Brother Richard handed out bizarre-colored councilor badges.

Remember when a student was asked if he would like to pass physics after he asked a certain physics teacher if fallout causes baldness.

At the last count 472 students have been locked in the lavatories, 239 in the locker rooms and 6 in classrooms not including the 2 locked in the track room.

. . . a certain junior class had a three day pool as to how many times a certain teacher would say "as such." The lucky number was twenty-seven compensating the winner with three dollars.

Remember when Brother Ambrose asked a certain student, "Are you maladjusted?"

. . . a student asked Mr. Wallace at the skating party how he was doing and he answered, "I'm standing."

This Is What They Said

"Look it here, you want to be outstanding?"

"It's well to note that . . ."

"In this case men, we have to fudge a-bit."

"I have committed a grave sin, I forgot to make up the test."

"Gentlemen, you are witnessing my first mistake in 40 years."

"There are three ways to do things: the right way, the wrong way, and my way. Do it my way."

"All right you guys, you want to declare war? I'll bomb you guys right out of here."

"Okay, make your fame."

Focus On Past Events

Spotlights Major Accomplishments

Another year of opportunity and accomplishment has become part of the history of Loughlin. The past ten months have been made a period of scholastic excellence through the efforts of a spirited student body and through the guidance and example of our faculty. Here are recalled the memorable events of the 1961-62 scholastic year.

ANNUAL RETREAT

The school year commenced with the participation of the student body in a three day retreat, September 13, 14 and 15. With Father McDonald and Father Burke acting as retreat masters, conferences were conducted in the auditorium and gym, and Mass and Benediction were said daily. Over fifty priests from throughout the diocese heard Confession and attended to the spiritual needs of students during the retreat.

To foster devotion to the Sacred Heart, Holy Mass was offered on every First Friday in the auditorium for those who wished to attend it instead of their regular Religion lesson. A special Mass in honor of St. La Salle was said on his feast day of May 15, in which students participated by singing the Common of the Mass.

BIG EVENING for seniors and dates, being greeted by Brother Richard at Loughlin's Senior Prom.

ASSEMBLIES

Throughout the Fall and Spring semesters, major events were highlighted by numerous student assemblies. The Scholarship Club presented a series of lectures, invaluable preparation for the State Regents Examination, to junior and senior classes.

A special ceremony was conducted in honor of Brother Cleophas Richard and Brother Charles Felix who, for 25 years, have been devoted to the teaching of young men as Christian Brothers. All students and faculty members were assembled to observe their Silver Jubilee, November 11.

Loughlin ushered in the Christmas season, December 22, with its traditional assembly. The production consisted of talent supplied entirely by students and was climaxed by "Santa Claus" annual visit.

Awards Day, June 1, saw students assembled to receive recognition for the numerous extracurricular activities in which they have participated. Major and minor letters, certificates and medals were presented to deserving Loughlinites.

LA SALLE DRIVE

From October 20 to October 30 one of the most successful Auxiliary Drives yet was conducted at Loughlin. Two classes, 117 and 317, broke the record for total class returns with 751 per cent and 732 per cent respectively. Supervised by Brother C. Richard, students generously devoted their time to the Auxiliary Drive and, as a result, merited seventeen gym holidays, daily films, early dismissals and membership in the La Salle Club and 500 Club.

PROMS

One hundred couples attended each of the two semi-formal La Salle Club Promenades, November 21 and May 11. Entertainment was provided by Jimmy Caruso and his orchestra and a queen and two princesses were chosen at each affair.

The victorious Purple Party candidates were presented to seniors and their dates at the Fall Festival Dance, November 3. The informal Snow Ball '61 Dance of December was the last event of Loughlin's 1961 social season.

One hundred and fifty couples were present at the Junior Prom at the Hotel Granada, April 25. The prom included a grand march and climaxed with the crowning of a prom queen. Arrangements for the event were made by the Prom Committee under the supervision of Mr. Cochrane. The Senior Prom, May 18, attracted 250 couples who were offered a buffet dinner at the Astorian Manor Ballroom.

CLASS ELECTIONS

In November, elections were conducted to select those who would fill the offices of the Senior Year. After an extensive two day campaign, the Purple Party emerged victorious with George Cappiello succeeding Joe Centrella as President.

At an assembly in April, Mike Fitzsimmons was chosen president of the Junior Year. He will also serve as president of the Senior Class until elections in November.

SENIOR EXCURSION

Senior Activities, moderated by Brother Richard, sponsored two trips to the national capitol for the seniors. On both trips — the first in December and the second in January — the seniors spent a three day weekend at the Ambassador Hotel. Sights included on the agenda were the National Shrine of Our Lady, the White House and the various memorials of the Presidents.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The Columbia Scholastic Press Association for the fifteenth straight year has awarded The Jamesonian with first place rating. In addition the paper received a citation from the National Tuberculosis Association for feature articles entered in the twenty-fifth School Press Project.

"Medalist" and "All American" were the ratings credited to The Loughlinite by the CSPA. These classifications are the highest possible in their respective competition and have been preceded by numerous awards won by Brother Christian's boys. The rating of "All-Catholic" from the Catholic School Association was also merited.

FORENSICS

It was a busy year for our Public Speakers and Debators, who could be found on any afternoon preparing for a debate or tournament of student congress. Among the more important contests this year was the Catholic Forensic League Tournament at which Kevin Mulcahy received a first place trophy in varsity Extemporaneous Apologetics. A fourth place trophy was also won by the Public Speaking team. At the elimination contest in Albany, Matt Walsh was chosen as a representative to the National Forensic League Contest in Montana. Daniel Scannell was picked to participate in the Grand Tournament which was conducted in Miami Beach, Florida at the beginning of June.

SCHOOL PLAYS

The Dramatics Society, under the direction of Mr. Grosse, devoted much of its time to the staging of three plays. "The Valiant," a story about a condemned man, was performed in January for the Senior class. A medieval comedy entitled the "Farce of Master Patelin," was presented to the Junior class in December. "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder, was the final contribution of the Society this year.

GLEE CLUB AND ORCHESTRA

Directed by Brother Basilian, the Glee Club merited a rating of excellent at the CYO Diocesan Music Festival, May 6, while the Orchestra received a classification of outstanding on March 25.

CLIMAX OF YEAR, Students board City of Keansburg after enjoyable day at Rye Beach Playland.

The two organizations entertained at many assemblies and special programs including the Christmas Assembly, the Silver Jubilee, and Freshman and Sophomore parents night. The Glee Club and Orchestra combined their talents in the production of a Spring Musicales, May 4 and 5. The program included selections from recent Broadway shows, religious themes and a "sing along" with the audience participating.

BOAT RIDE

Rye Beach Playland received 1600 Loughlinites, June 4. Only 14 days before the Regents Examinations began, the students had a chance to relax and recall their experiences of the past two semesters.

SENIORS OF '62 PROVE SCHOLASTIC INITIATIVE IN STATE REGENTS

Senior Mag, Lion Suit And New Track Contributed

The term has come to an end, and the seniors will no longer be with us. Therefore, the following column has been dedicated to some of the achievements of the graduating class.

FANS CHEER LION who accompanied them in numerous activities.

Senior Contributions

It has been the custom in the past for the graduating class to donate a gift to the school. This year it was decided to donate a new board track to be paid partly by this class and partly by the class of '63. In addition to the new track, the seniors also donated the "Leo the Lion" suit which was used at all important assemblies and sports functions.

Literary Accomplishment

Not wishing to be out-done by The Loughlin Quarterly or The Jamesonian, the seniors published their own literary masterpiece entitled The Senior Mag. Edited by Tom Babor, the magazine contains humorous events in the senior classes as well as parodies on topics such as the Regents.

Regents Scholarships

On a more academic level, the seniors brought honor to the school by the many scholarships won. Shortly after the State Scholarship Exam in October, it was announced that Loughlin received one hundred thirty-three full scholarships and sixty-six alternates. This number represents approximately fifty per cent of the graduating class and is the largest number of Regents scholarships ever won by a Catholic high school in New York State.

Dennis Brogan, Phil Ryan, Raymond Delnicki and Raymond Baechler received the coveted honor of being chosen as representatives to the Mayor's Committee on Scholastic Achievement. Each school chose one out of every hundred graduates based on academic achievement and extracurricular activities.

Highlights Of 1962 Sports Year

ATHLETES TERMINATE SUCCESSFUL SEASONS

Ambition And Drive Make Year One Of Finest Ever

With the coming of June and the summer, and the finale of the school year, Loughlin's athletes are also coming to the close of the respective campaigns. Some sports have already terminated while others have just concluded their seasons, and, as is the custom in the final issue of The Jamesonian, we present this roundup of this year's sports activities.

We can now follow, month by month, the progress of our various teams, with their successes and failures. We can now look back and reminisce over what has happened, and we can give a farewell salute to our highly successful athletes, who have maintained Loughlin's athletic reputation.

SEPTEMBER

After last year's successful campaign, Loughlin's Tracksters began their fall practice. The team was led by such standouts as Ric Christopher, Ken Coniglio, Tom Babor, Bob Riley and Pete Haffner, who after highly beneficial junior years, returned to spark the team in their senior years.

Loughlin's tennis team also began its practice in September. The team, which was runner-up in the city-wide play-offs last year, again promises to show the way. The varsity team will consist of such standouts as seniors, Vin Mikol, Capt., Tom Finn, Pete Hadhazy and Bill Rico. Juniors, Tom O'Donoghue, Bob Huttner and sophomores Alex Smirnow and Angelo Casagrande add the remaining punch to the Lion's attack.

OCTOBER

The Racketsquad scored their first two victories of their infant season, by topping L.I.U. frosh 3-0 and Thomas Jefferson High 3-2. Winners for Loughlin against L.I.U. were Tom O'Donoghue, Pete Hadhazy, Pete Caronia and Alex Smirnow, while against Jefferson, it was Tom O'Donoghue, Pete Hadhazy and Alex Smirnow who carried the campaign.

Loughlin's varsity cagers, defending City Champions, Iona Tourney Champs and Christian Brothers Tourney Champs opened their practice for the upcoming season. The Lions were also runner-up in the National Catholic Tourney in Washington, D.C. and hopes were set high for the coming season.

The mermen also began their varsity practices. With the return of many experienced members such as Ray Kerwick, Dan Palese, Chris Jones, and Dennis Olender, another successful campaign was expected.

NOVEMBER

The Lion Cross-Country Team completed the 1961 season by finishing tenth in the CHSAA Championships at Van Cortland Park, November 4. Mike Hyland and Fred Borger led the Loughlin hill 'n dalers over the two and one-half mile course.

The tennis team also ended its campaign in November by netting six straight victories in its final six matches. The racketmen defeated St. Francis Prep, St. Peters, Chaminade once, while tossing three defeats at Xaverian.

The Alumni returned to the Loughlin gym November 24 to take on the defending City Champion Basketball Team. The rebounding and scoring of Willie Wolters proved too much for the Alumni who fell 75-60.

The first league contest of the basketball season took place on November 28, with the Lions outclassing Cathedral, 66-27. John DeBiase led the scorers with 25 points.

DECEMBER

The first day of the month saw the basketball team gaining its second win of the season by overpowering Chaminade 68-54. John DeBiase again was leading scorer with a new school record of 36 points.

The track team began the indoor season December 2, with the CHSAA Relay Carnival. The High Jump Relay of Bob Riley, John McKenna, and George Synan captured the event with a new meet record of 17' 6 1/4". Loughlin's 880 yard Relay consisting of Ken Coniglio, Bob Riley, Ralph Aliventi and Joe Flaherty captured a silver medal.

The following Saturday, December 9, the ninth annual Loughlin Games took place, with the tracksters capturing the first of many second place victories of the year. Ken Coniglio took the 60 yard high hurdles event and was voted outstanding athlete of the meet.

Next to fall prey to the basketball team was St. Augustine's by a score of 68-56. December 12 saw the team outscoring Xaverian by a 78-60 margin. The team invaded Madison Square Garden December 19 to take on the Redmen of St. John's Prep. The Johnnies wound up on the short end of a 69-36 decision. The sixth win of the year was at the expense of St. Francis Prep, December 22. In a close game the Lions edged out the Prepsters 56-49.

Towards the end of the month the swimming team captured victories over Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Sheepshead Bay, Xavier and Cardinal Hayes.

JANUARY

On January 27, at the Eighth Annual St. Francis Track and Field Games, Loughlin's star hurdler, Ken Coniglio, sped to the fastest schoolboy clocking ever recorded. His time of 0:07 in the sixty-yard hurdles was four-tenths seconds faster than the previous mark. Immediately the question of whether or not Ken jumped the gun was raised. All doubts were removed, however, when the official starter, John Tomasko, affirmed Ken's start. Other standouts for Lions were Pete Haffner in the shot put, with a toss of 57' 8" and Bob Riley in the high jump with a leap of six feet.

The basketball team, after three wins over St. Augustine's, St. John's, and Brooklyn Prep dropped a decision to St. Francis Prep. This loss to St. Francis was the first loss to be dealt our cagers in this year's league competition.

FEBRUARY

The cagers defeated Trinity 60-47, while losing a heart-breaker to Holy Cross 60-59. The loss to Holy Cross was the turning point of the season, because after this game the Lions could never really get started again. They beat Molloy in their next encounter by a score of 69-51. This was the first victory on the Molloy court for the Lions in three years. On February 15, the "Purple and Gold" journeyed to McClancy to take on the Terriers of St. Francis, in a playoff for first place. However, due to the loss of Wolters, our 6-9 super-star, because of a case of tonsillitis, the Lions couldn't manage to pull this one out. They dropped the decision by a score of 60-40. This loss forced the team into a first round game in the city-championship playoffs. Against All Hallows, the team that we defeated for the city title last year, we got off to a sluggish start and wound up at the short end of a 71-63 tally.

On February 22, the Lions CHSAA Relay Carnival. The placed second in Brooklyn-Long Island Championships with a team score of 31.5 points. Pete Haffner, Ric Christopher, and Mike Zarzycki all set new meet records. Haffner put the shot

The tennis team opened April

59' 1" to top all contestants while in the 50 yard dash, Ric Christopher clipped two-tenths seconds off the previous record of 0:05.9 with a clocking of 0:05.7. Mike Zarzycki also chopped two-tenth seconds off the previous time of 0:30.8 with a new time of 0:30.6.

MARCH

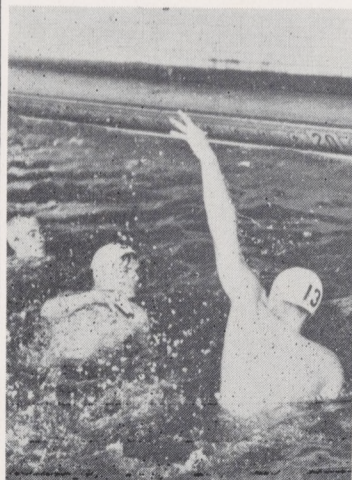

In the final meet of the indoor season the track team placed second in the CHSAA

MAY

The tennis team opened May with two wins in their first two attempts. St. John's fell to the Lions May 2, by a 4-1 mark while Xaverian was edged out May 7 by a score of 3-2.

The National Water Polo Championships got under way at Yale University May 10-12. The Lions placed third competing against all college teams and defeating St. Peter's and Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

The handball team continued undefeated by defeating All Hallows, May 3, by a slim margin of 3-2.

In the city handball championships, May 23, the team placed third in the city. John Zelenko and Tom Downes won in the preliminary round, while Jim Greenan and Dan Cronin lost to Tolentine. The team compiled an overall record of 9-2 for the season. Tom Downes went undefeated during the entire campaign.

APRIL

The handball team opened the season April 6 by shutting out Trinity 5-0. The wallmen won their second victory April 10 by defeating Rice, 3-2.

The outdoor track season got under way April 8, with the

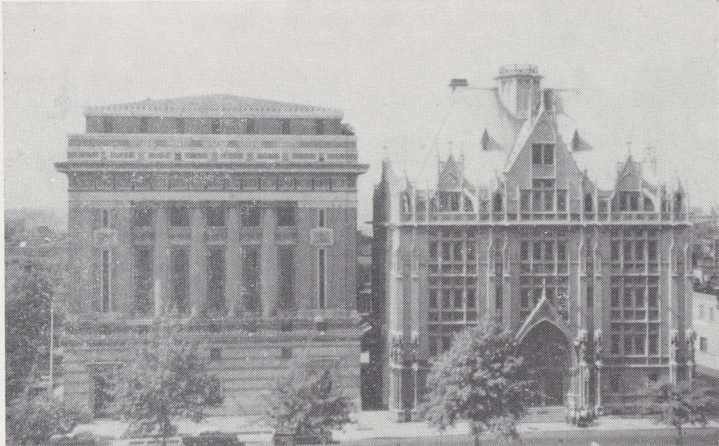

Loughlin Amidst Changing Scene

Architectural Cut Produces Sharp Effect

Notable Mansion Bears Age

The Jamesonian would like to present a commentary concerning the sites surrounding Bishop Loughlin. Bordering on Lafayette Avenue, between Vanderbilt and Clermont Avenues, there stands two diametrically opposed buildings, The Masonic Temple and Queen of All Saints Roman Catholic Church which are opposed in architecture as well as in belief.

On the location where the Temple stands, there once stood a twin house owned by the Vernon Brothers. In 1906 The Masons bought the house. Freemasonry was originally established in 1717, during a period of rationalism in France. It is a religion with belief in a "Divine Architect"

The architectural conflict between the Masonic Temple and Q.A.S.

The area around Loughlin was first occupied by a wealthy class of Germans who built most of the brown-stones in the surrounding neighborhood. Although they are two stories high, they were occupied by single families. Today most of the houses in the area have been converted to tenement houses. These houses are Victorian in style characterized by high stoops, use of wood or stone carvings around the windows and doors and by the elongated windows.

Early Observatory

Today, one of the oldest houses in Brooklyn still remains on the corner of Lafayette and Vanderbilt Avenues. Prior to the erection of Loughlin in 1933, this house was owned by the Skinner family. John C. Skinner was distinguished for his varied editorials on the streets around Loughlin, how these streets got their names and his description of the times. They appeared in The Brooklyn Eagle during the 20's and 30's. At the top of his house there is what seems to be a steeple but was really an observatory through which he watched the bay and the Brooklyn Navy Yard on clear days.

Authentic picture of the Skinner home as it was during the 30's.

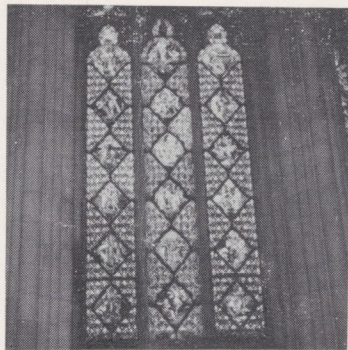

The house was quite expensive for its time. Most of the carvings are hand done, as is much of the interior. Due to the weather and much neglect, the house has lost much of its original beauty. In the rear of the house are a number of stables which prove its antiquity. There were no streets but only dirt roads and paths. Near this house the Battle of Long Island was fought.

The first group of twenty-five brothers to teach at Loughlin lived at 367 Clermont Avenue. It was erected in 1873 and Bishops Loughlin, McDonnell, and Molloy lived here. It was from the balcony of this house that Bishop Loughlin used to watch the parades. Brother Andrian Lewis was one of this group transferred with these brothers and students of Saint James High School on Jay Street. The school opened with these twenty-five brothers and ten laymen. Brother Anthony of Mary was the first principal. Loughlin had been dedicated by the Most Rev. Thomas Molloy on Columbus Day of 1933.

The Brothers' House became overcrowded and eight of the Brothers moved to another house, which was similar to the Skinner home. The only difference was that it was a brownstone located at 374 Clermont Avenue. When the annex was built near the school on the corner of Clermont and Greene Avenues the Brothers moved back to 367. The original twenty-five in the new annex has now risen to forty Brothers.

On Greene Avenue. St. Casimir's Church provides the area with a simple design which blends very well with all the homes in the vicinity.

who put everything on earth for man's use. In 1907 the temple was erected. The architecture of the temple is mainly Classical but varies widely. Ionic columns are on the facade and there are representations of the lotus, the floral emblem of Egypt, on the Clermont Avenue side.

Bible of the illiterate at Q.A.S.

Plans were being made to construct a magnificent cathedral on the corner of Vanderbilt and Lafayette at the turn of the century. The cost was estimated to lie close to one million dollars. It would be called the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. It would have been the biggest church in the diocese. Due to a lack of funds the construction was halted soon after the foundation was completed. It remained this way for a few years. To replace it, blue prints were drawn up in 1910 for the construction of Queen of All Saints Church. In order to have the church conform to the architecture of the Masonic Temple, now four years old, the Masons offered to pay part of the expenses for the construction of the church. However, the Bishop refused and Queen of All Saints Church was built according to the Gothic style, as evidenced by the emphasis on the vertical line. The church was completed in 1911, and dedicated by Bishop McDonnell. There is a main church and a lower chapel. The huge stained glass windows on each side are often referred to as the "bible of the illiterate." Gargoyles line the top and there are spires in the four corners and one in the center of the roof.

Foundation of Cathedral

The Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception which was never completed was covered by gravel in 1932, preparing way for a new high school. This school is Bishop Loughlin High School. The foundation of the cathedral lies beneath the track and field. However, before Loughlin could be completed, St. John's Chapel had to be demolished. In its place the typing room was erected.

The stained glass windows of Queen of All Saints Church are famous for their beauty. They represent a period of art renowned for devotion to God.

Located at 380 Clinton Avenue there is a two story red-brick house which was once occupied by a very prominent New Yorker. He was De Witt Clinton. He was born in 1769 at Little Britain, New York. In 1786 he graduated at Columbia and was admitted to the bar in 1790. In 1802 he became a member of the United States Senate but retired the following year to assume the position of Mayor of New York, which he held for the next ten years.

Anthanian Hall which was the former home of Governor Clinton.

House Still Remains

He lived in the house on the avenue which still bears his name. The house is typical Victorian style with two balcony windows on the lower floor. The main entrance is ornamented by marble carvings and surrounding the house are various floral patterns. The house is typical, for it conformed with the other houses in the area. St. Casimir's Church, two blocks over, is also a red brick which adapts the same style architecture. The effects of the weather have not changed the appearance of Clinton's house much.

Home For The Blind

Although the house is now the Anthanian Hall for the blind folks, it is still kept in the same appearance as it was almost 200 years ago. De Witt Clinton is most remembered for the building of the Erie Canal.

Brother Andrian Lewis

LOUIS IMBRIANO

Fifty-five years have passed since Brother Andrian Lewis, F.S.C., first entered the teaching career. Brother Lewis is now Bursar at Loughlin after an interesting career. He was born in New York City where he attended Epiphany Grammar School, later P.S. 87, and finally Holy Trinity School. He was graduated from Manhattan Prep High School. He enrolled at Fordham University where he did work for a Bachelor of Business Administration degree; and at New York University, where he secured a Master of Business Administration degree.

Brother Lewis entered the Novitiate at Ammendale, Maryland. He received the religious habit of the Brothers of the Christian Schools on February 1, 1907, at Pocantico Hills, New York. Since then he has specialized in the teaching of business subjects. He has instructed boys in schools in the states of New York,

Michigan and the New England area. In 1931 he came to St. James Diocesan High School, then located on Jay Street. Then in 1933 he was transferred to the newly built Bishop Loughlin. He was a member of the first faculty of the school. Twenty-five brothers resided at 367 Clermont Avenue at the time. He remained here until 1937 when he was transferred to St. Peter's High School, Staten Island. After five years he once again returned to Loughlin where he has been since.

Unit Vice-President of C. B. E. A.

Since 1950, Brother Lewis has been a member of the Catholic Business Education Association of which he is presently National Treasurer. He has served as Vice-President and Exhibit Chairman of the Eastern Unit of the Association. He is a member of the National Board, the National Executive Committee and the Convention Planning Committee of the Association.

Brother Lewis celebrated his Golden Jubilee with a Mass and dinner, February 4, 1957. This year marks his fifty-fifth year as a Christian Brother.

LOUDSPEAKER

GAVIN LINDNER

As this is my last Loudspeaker in The Jamesonian, I wish to apologize for any errors that I have committed as Sports Editor, both of commission and omission. In my short run at the job, I've tried to have Loughlin's sports reported both objectively and completely, and I'm positive that my successor will be able to improve immensely on what I've tried to do.

In my four years at Loughlin, I've been fortunate to be a witness to a few (to me) great sports events, and if not know, at least have a familiarity with certain truly great Loughlin sports personalities. Instead of trying to predict next year's sports picture (I stick my foot in my big mouth enough). I'll try to list these people and events which, to me, have helped immensely to make my four years here something I'll never forget.

The 60-59 loss to Holy Cross . . . John Geraghty . . . the 65-64 win over Molloy, breaking their 48 game winning streak . . . Brother Cosmas John . . . the three-way tie for first place in 1960 and the resulting play-off at Molloy . . . the Camden and Molloy games on television . . . Larry Lembo . . . the baseball team's eight game winning streak last year . . . the 71-68 defeat by De Matha at the Nationals in Washington . . . Lenny Schnappauf . . . the 48-46 sudden death victory over Molloy in last year's CHSAA play-offs . . . Tyrone Pannell . . . my first Catholics at the Garden . . . Ed Pare . . . the 62-50 victory over All Hallows that gave us the City Championship . . . Artie Klink . . . the play-off game with St. Francis at McClancy . . . Willie Wolters stuffing Rudy Bogard or Lloyd Dove . . . Ken Coniglio and Pete Haffner . . . any Loughlin basketball game.

In case you're interested, on June 16, the annual Spike Shoe Club dinner will be held and also the annual Varsity-Alumni basketball game will probably be held the night before Thanksgiving.

HANDBALL TEAM TAKES THIRD PLACE IN CITY

Tom Downes Remains Undefeated For Season

By RAY JAKUBEK

The Lion handball team completed the 1962 season with a 9-2 record, placing third in the entire city.

Cathedral, city champions, handed the wallmen their first loss May 4, by a tally of 5-0. The team came back May 8, however to gain their seventh win of the campaign at the hands of Tolentine. John Zelenko and Tom Downes won in the singles competition, while Jim Greenan and Ralph Hoffman took their doubles event.

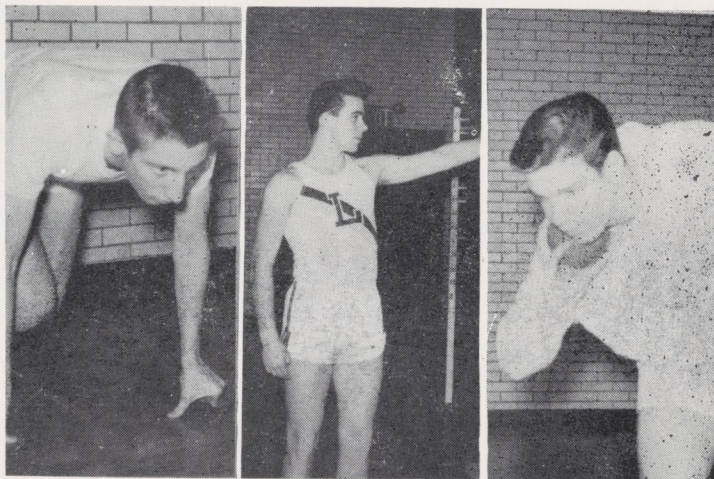

Power was next to fall to the Lion wallmen May 15, by a score of 3-2. Mike Mandel, John Greenan, and Marshall Bone all aided the winning effort. The final win of the campaign was secured over St. Francis by a mark of 4-1. The team secured all single matches and one doubles event.

The wallmen dropped the last game of the season to Cardinal Hayes, 4-1.

In the city championships, May 23, John Zelenko won his preliminary match against St. Francis while Tom Downes defeated an opponent from Tolentine. The doubles team of Jim Greenan and Dan Cronin lost to a duet from Tolentine. Zelenko was defeated by the eventual winner and Downes lost to the runner-up.

Through the entire season Tom Downes remained undefeated, while Jim Greenan and Dan Cronin compiled a 9-2 record.

Diamondmen End Year Finish With 5-10 Record

By DON STELLER

Loughlin's varsity Baseball Team climaxed its season with a 5 win 10 loss record. On Monday, May 21, Loughlin out-hit Xaverian 6-5 and on the following Wednesday swamped Holy Cross 8-4. St. John's edged out the "Lion" nine 3-1, Friday, May 25 at the Parade Grounds.

Lack Pitchers

Mr. Ralph Tedesco, the team's coach, admits that the season wasn't as successful as expected, but anticipates a successful year next season. He attributes the main weakness of this year's team to lack of pitching ability. The team will suffer from the graduation of pitchers Whitey Witowski and Dan Bellotti. Mr. Tedesco has pointed out many future hopefuls for next year's team. To strengthen his pitching staff, he looks to Clark, Baviollo, Zarzicki and Garibaldi. The infield portion of the team appears strong to Mr. Tedesco with Danny Walsh, playing short stop, Bob Kutto taking the hot corner of third base and second baseman Jeff Albies, rounding it out.

Sophomore Joe Povolny, and junior Joe Durkan will compose the catching squad of the team.

Draft Expected

According to Coach Tedesco, Paul Migliore, Allen Peshler and John Howard seem the best possibilities for the outfield. Additional players will be drafted from the J.V., moderated by Brother Lawrence. Next year's team will then be mainly a mixture of seniors and juniors, thus preventing a complete loss of valuable players at graduation.

Coach Tedesco feels that with this new strength in pitching and fielding, "the team will have a very profitable season."

Letters Awarded

At the recent awards day assembly held on June 1, nineteen members of the varsity baseball team were awarded major letters. Minor letters were also presented to twenty J.V. squad members.

Tennis Squad Victorious Goes Into City Play-Offs

By PETE CARONIA

Loughlin's varsity "Racketsquad" compiled seven straight victories to win the Brooklyn-Queens-Nassau Championship. The team is captained by Vin Mikol, and sparked by seniors Pete Hadhazy, Tom Finn and Bill Rico and juniors Tom O'Donoghue and Bob Huttner have swept all opponents to cop the league championship for the second year in a row.

The first victim of the team was St. John's Prep by a score of 4-1. Following them into the fire were Newton High 3-2, St. Francis Prep 3-2, Brooklyn Tech 3-2, Brooklyn Prep 5-0, McBurney 3-2, and Chaminade 4-1. The standards for the team in the matches were Tom O'Donoghue, undefeated in this year's league play, Vin Mikol, Pete Hadhazy, Tom Finn and Bill Rico.

The CHSAA Tennis Championships will be layed at the West Side Tennis Club in Forest Hills, in late June. The play-off will be between Loughlin and Fordham Prep, for the second year in a row.

Palese Hurls Javelin 181'7½" For Best In Catholics

By GEORGE CAPIELLO

The Loughlin Track Team continued in its winning ways by annexing first place laurels in the Brooklyn-Long Island Championship with a substantial total of 67.5 points. Chaminade and Molloy trailed distantly.

Bob Riley led the way with a double victory in the high-jump and broad-jump. Bob took the broad-jump with a record leap of 23'3". He tied for first in the high-jump with a 6¼" jump. Ken Coniglio also scored twice as we won the hurdles in 0:14.6 and took third in the broad jump at 22'.

Dan Palese made the crowd stand up and take notice with a record throw of 185' in the javelin. The Lions racked up in the javelin when Kev McGill took second in it with a throw of 181'.

Pete Haffner took home two medals when he won the discus with a record throw of 148' and took second in the shot. Jack Tyniec picked up a gold medal for his 11'4" effort in the pole vault. Neil Foehrenbach ran a fine anchor leg on the two-mile relay to bring them up to fourth place. He was clocked in 1:59.9.

Mike Zarzicky's 0:51.5 clocking placed third in the quarter-mile dash. Charles Traynor made his debut as an individual sprinter and did a fine job placing fourth in the 220 with a 0:23.3 time.

Pete Mahoney copped second in the discus with a 141' throw. Ricardo Christopher returned to form with a fine 0:10.2 clocking. His effort was good for a gold medal.

Bob Riley finally broke the school record in the high jump, which he had tied so many times, when he leaped 6'4½". In the same New Utrecht Meet the Lions defended their title and defeated the field with 29½ points. The 880 relay broke their own school record with a very fast clocking of 1:30.6.

Bob Riley led the way to the CHSAA outdoor title by winning the broad-jump and tying Del Benjamin at 6'2" in the high jump. Pete Haffner also scored in two events, when he won the discus with a school record of 152'4" and was second in the shot-put.

Dan Palese set his second straight meet record with a javelin throw of 181'7½". Ken Coniglio accounted for another meet record when he ran 0:14.5 in the 120 highs. The 880 yard relay continued its winning ways by bringing home the baton in 1:33.1. Ricardo Christopher tied the school mark in the 100 with a clocking of 0:10.0.

Jamesonian Elects Editors: Jakubek Succeeds Brogan

At the recent Awards Day Ceremonies, Friday, June 1, the members of the 1962-1963 editorial staff of The Jamesonian were announced by Brother Aquinas Kevin, Faculty Advisor.

Raymond Jakubek of room 317 was chosen to replace Dennis Brogan, the retiring Editor-in-Chief. Ray's main duties will consist of supervising the entire paper, writing bi-monthly editorials and acting in the capacity of the chief spokesman of the paper.

Standing: P. Caronia, T. Stakelon, A. Cavuto, T. Palma, D. Steller, C. Newell; front: R. Broome, L. Imbriano, R. Jakubek, P. Scaltrito.

The News Editor will be Thomas Stakelon, who will replace Bob Kelly. It will be his responsibility to organize and plan the first page of The Jamesonian. His assistant will be Charles Newell who will succeed Art Dixon. As Assistant News Editor, the fourth page is under his direction.

Next year's Sports Editor, who will select the sports stories for publication and write the "Loudspeaker" each month, will be Pete Caronia. Pete replaces Gavin Lindner.

Selecting next year's pictures for The Jamesonian will be Pete Scaltrito. He replaces Paul Keough, the present Photography Editor.

Donald Steller takes over the duties of Feature Editor from the retiring Tim Nesbitt, while Louis Imbriano will assist him in the capacity of Assistant Feature Editor. The Feature Editors are responsible for the make-up of page two, the writing of editorials, the composing of the "Personalities," "Annals of Loughlin," "Faculty Focus," and "Around Loughlin."

Al Cavuto and Tobia Palma will take over the jobs of Copy Editors from Bill Basta and Ed Kurinsky, while Russell Broome replaces Gavin Lindner as Business Manager.

Arthur Dignam Succeeds Ryan As President Of Benilde Club

Arthur Dignam of 317 was elected new president of the Benilde Club at a special meeting last May 29 in the school auditorium. Fifty-two members balloted for the various offices and Executive Board representation. Philip Ryan, president of the Benilde Club, presided as chairman.

Slate Approved

Selected to fill the position of Vice-President was David Faulkner of 414. William Mann of 205 will be Secretary for the society and Kevin Mulcahy of 311, Treasurer. The unanimously approved slate of representatives to the Executive Board consisted of Joseph DiBenedetto, Michael Hogan, William Smith, Gerard Schriffen, Terrence Quinn, John Fitzgibbon, Robert Maguire, and Vincent Callagy. Freshmen members will be chosen in the fall.

The list of candidates for officers of the Benilde Club was made up by the senior executive members with the approval of Brother Basil Stephen, Principal, moderator of the Benilde Club.

Founded at Loughlin in 1957 and dedicated to Blessed Brother Benilde, the club has for its underlying purpose the fostering of vocations to the priesthood and to the religious life. It accomplishes these ends by prayer, sacrifice and a number of drives throughout the year, such as the Canned Food Appeal, Stamp and Christmas Card Drives and a series of lectures and movies on vocations.

LOUGHLIN'S FACULTY GIVEN FELLOWSHIPS

Added to the list of accomplishments of the school this year are the numerous fellowships awarded to the members of the faculty.

Brother Corbinian Joseph has been awarded a Graduate Assistantship at New York University. In order to accept this position, Brother Joseph has been given a leave of absence for the academic year of 1962-63. The Assistantship will involve laboratory instruction in the General Chemistry course at N.Y.U. For this instruction, Brother will receive a stipend and be allowed to pursue, tuition free, courses towards his doctorate in Science Education.

Mr. Vincent Perciaccante will continue his fellowship at St. John's University for his Doctorate in Chemistry. Brother Bertram Edmund, who was awarded a fellowship in Bio-Chemistry, will study at New Mexico Highland University, Las Vegas.

Brother Baldwin Peter, former Assistant Principal, recently returned from Europe. After being in Rome for the past year, Brother will commence his work at Catholic University for a Doctorate in English.

A Fulbright Scholarship was won by Mr. Cochrane, who will further his French studies in Paris. Spanish methodology will be the course followed by Brother Cletus Adrian during his fellowship at Columbia University.

Fellowships in mathematics were awarded to Brother Charles Michael to work for his M.A. at Maryland University and Mr. Frank Zember who will study in California.

Brother Azarias Michael will study Labor Relations at Cornell University and Brother Amian George will take up a history program at Northwestern. Brother Raphael will be a visiting professor in the Education Division at St. Mary's College, Minnesota.

The physical aspect of our students was shown by a section incorporating the many sports at Loughlin. Each one of these five sections is set off by a full-page color picture.

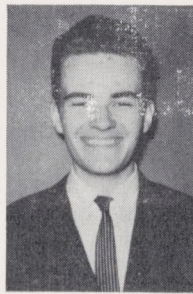

Elections were held last month to determine the five new editors of The Loughlinite since the present editors will soon be leaving. The boys elected were Stephen Brecht, editor-in-chief and art editor, Robert Mauro, activities editor, Jeffrey Gould, sports editor and John Salierno as senior editor.

Portraits of the class of '63 will be taken June 21, 22, 23 at the Routel Studios.

Heart of the Matter

DENNIS BROGAN

This is my last article as Editor-in-Chief of The Jamesonian. It will indeed seem strange to no longer hold this position.

DENNIS BROGAN

Yet, in all truth, it is not the position that I will miss, but rather the wonderful people that I have come to know so well over the past ten months, and whom I now have the privilege of calling friends.

Last September the editors of this paper — I venture to speak for all — were a group of young men who were a little anxious about the journalistic tasks that faced them. Now it is June, and as our work is brought to a climax, all of us, to some degree, regret that this year and this work is over.

Frankly, we feel that we have seen in ourselves a real growth in journalistic competency over our September to June issues. A perfect copy from the very first issue betrays the dominating hand of an advisor or the editor-in-chief, together with a staff of yes-men. A gradual and consistent improvement suggests a staff that is on its own, while wise enough to take a gentle hint from those who are in a position to know. We feel we see the same improvement in our reporters throughout the year, and we are grateful that we have provided an activity that has been so valuable to so many. Now we are no longer anxious — we feel that we know our business.

However, even as our stay at Loughlin is now fast coming to a close just when we are beginning to feel at ease, to feel that we are among old friends, and that we are familiar with the faculty, so now we editors leave that office on the fourth floor where so many events, trials, 'crises,' and triumphs have cemented out relations and brotherhood.

In Robert Kelly I found a man almost addicted to journalism and a real pro who made the first page a masterpiece. Tim Nesbitt took over the position of Feature Editor in March, and has done a superbly creative job — in spite of the fact that I have pulled rank and forced him to print my editorials every other month.

Gavin Lindner, holding the dual role of Sports Editor and Business Manager, has never ceased to amaze me with his diverse skills and technical knowledge of the printing business. To say that he is a perfectionist who helped us non-perfectionists when we got "sloppy" would be an understatement.

Artie Dixon welded news and features for an appealing fourth page; in addition we've spent many afternoons discussing our somewhat contrasting political and social philosophies. Paul Keough is our art and photography editor who has faithfully supplied the photographic and artistic needs of The Jamesonian, and who has given us a bit of brightness and beauty.

When not correcting copy, Bill Basta and Ed Kurinsky have turned in sparkling performances in page planning and creative writing in our six page editions, in our "Faculty Focus" and "Annals of Loughlin" series.

In our Advisor, Brother Aquinas Kevin, we have a man who for the past ten months has managed to advise eight editors in eight thousand categories. He not only proved to be a journalistic adviser, but also a personal friend through whose counsel and example we editors have profited. He is a dedicated and diligent disciple of Saint La Salle.

I realize that as I leave The Jamesonian — not even to mention leaving Loughlin — I am leaving behind an era in my life in which I feel I have matured, and perhaps grown a bit wiser through the help and friendship of the wonderful — I constantly use this adjective because I can think of no more appropriate word — people I have mentioned and whose companionship I will miss. I thank God for all the tremendous opportunities I have received at Loughlin; even now I cannot fully verbally express the sentiments I so strongly and sincerely feel. What more can I say except thank you to the Brothers of the Christian Schools and to all my fellow Loughlinites for four magnificent years.
